

NO ARMISTICE WITHOUT COMPLETE SURRENDER OF FOE

London, Oct. 13.—Germany has received its ultimatum in which she is told to the very who has forced her into submission, but to the one enemy who she has most offended and whose personal claims for damages will necessarily prove the most moderate. Yet the German can only more completely expose his own sins and for these reasons we must hold it in suspicion.

The Times thus summarizes its views on the latest German peace moves:

"Many rivers of blood have washed into the soil of France and Belgium since President Wilson excommunicated his fourteen points. The ravages of death and even those of the earlier stages of the German war of conquest and occupation have been cast in the shade. Yet, the fourteen items which Germany now accepts contain no specific program for any single one of the mandates, nor is there, in the main, any reference to the arrangement of the master criminals who inspired the organized atrocities."

"Before President Wilson accepts the role of international arbiter thrust upon him, we trust he will be sure to remind the German chancellor that each and all of these profits must be faced."

Teleglobe newspaper says that if Germany thinks all that new remorse is the bangle about the conditions at the conference, a very great disillusionment awaits her. "The allies have paid in advance to President Wilson for the peace, as well as the payment to the uttermost farthing for devastation wrought in France." These, it says, well be paid, "and explanation for the crimes like the torture of the Leinenster by the handing over of German troops to replace those sunk by the sea murderers."

If there is any peace, it must be permanent to all nations' surrender. And, finally, until the German people can down the junkers for good, the allies will continue to obtain a victory so overwhelming that these men shall be broken and destroyed.

Lloyd's News says that the willingness of the German chancellor to accept the President's fourteen points reveals that he is chagrined spirit." He does not fully agree with this paper, that President Wilson has recommended that the entente grant an armistice without solid guarantees.

"To grant an armistice, now would be to admit that Germany must disaster. Therefore, an armistice of hostility, must be accompanied by some visible signs of defeat, such as the occupation of Metz and bridgeheads in the Rhine. Marshall Foch can be trusted not to allow Germany to trick him."

The National News says: "Apparently the Potsdam powers failed to realize that they are in the position of being again liable to be appealed to suggest any conditions. The only peace possible is that dictated by the allies."

The Weekly Dispatch, in its comment, says: "The Hun suggests that President Wilson bring about a meeting of a mixed commission for making necessary arrangements concerning evacuation, whatever that means." To this the answer is "out." No consideration of any military Men who believe in God cannot boggle with friends who sank the Leinenster."

While the London public today seemed generally disposed to await an authoritative lead on the German reply to President Wilson, expressions of suspicion of Germany's purpose were heard on all sides. "Unseen forces" were at work, and the allied response seemed to be rapidly gaining in popularity with the average citizen as the note was discussed.

HUNDREDS PERISH WITH SINKING OF PASSENGER SHIP

London, Oct. 11.—According to the latest estimate, 140 persons perished when the passenger liner Leinenster was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. The vessel carried 707 passengers and a crew of about 70 men.

Dublin, Oct. 11.—Of the 150 women and children aboard the steamer Leinenster when she was destroyed by a German submarine Monday, 15 have been accounted for. Several of these died since they were brought to port.

Armenic Port, Oct. 11.—Five survivors of the 150 who were formerly the German steamer Cambria, torpedoed while on her way to France, arrived here late today on a British freight steamer, which had been sent to bring the 150 officers and 150 enlisted men of the American steamer "Tremendous," sunk by an enemy submarine September 30, were reported missing in an announcement made by the navy department. Lieut. Frank H. Smith, of the U.S. Consul, and Jules H. Putcher, First Lieut. C., were taken prisoners by the U.S. fleet crew.

London, Oct. 11.—The sinking of the Japanese steamship Hirano Maru and the Dublin mail boat Leinenster incidents of a new submarine campaign which the Germans launched about 10 days ago, according to the Times, show that that hitherto renewed submarine activity becomes evident in various directions, notably along the routes followed by steamers carrying American troops.

—"The German submarines—boats are much larger and more heavily armed than any which have been sent out previously by Germany."

Among the missing on board" the Leinenster is Lady Alexandra Phyllis Hamilton, daughter of the Dowager Duchess of Abercorn.

FRENCH WOMEN AND WAR CHILDREN

The manner in which Belgian and French women have been able to "mother" the children who have become victims in one way and another of Hun cruelties and atrocities is nothing short of wonderful. With the aid of their own suffering to warrant the spending of the remainder of their lifetime grieving, these noble women forgot everything except the pressing need of rescuing these children from the fires, the smoke, the horrors or an orphanage without guardians.

The war of 1871 started French women in the work of caring for the child victims of that time. From infancy through school age these women worked, with skill and gritted so that they might become, worthy citizens of France. That society, known as the "Oeuvre de la Chaussee," in Metz, has continued to do its impossible task in wartime life. Dating back to pre-war times, also, are the "maternal canteens" and the "Goum de Lait" which have greatly increased their activities during the war.

But just apart from the three societies named, and springing into existence solely because of the unprecedented brutality of Hunish warfare, is an organization of French women known as "L'Accueil Francais." This sole object is the care of children belonging to the invaded districts. Madame Manger the secretary managing 100 homes or 15,000 children. If one but pauses to recall the population of well known towns and villages it becomes possible to realize, in a faint way, the task French women have taken upon themselves in caring for the hundreds of the described children in this district run into the hundred thousand. Madam Michel, wife of the General Michel, and collected enough money to care for 50,000 children. The plan pursued leaves the children in France with their nearest kin. So zealously has this been carried out that it is practically impossible now to find a war orphan unprovided with a home. What they will do in France, or in the whole world, for that matter to dispel the dark cloud that hangs over France, especially of thousands who can never return, those who have died by the way-side when forced to flee from home before the advancing Germans, or who did not survive the long and arduous pilgrimage into slavery worse than death. Thousands have disappeared because separated from their families. And years will be needed to trace them.

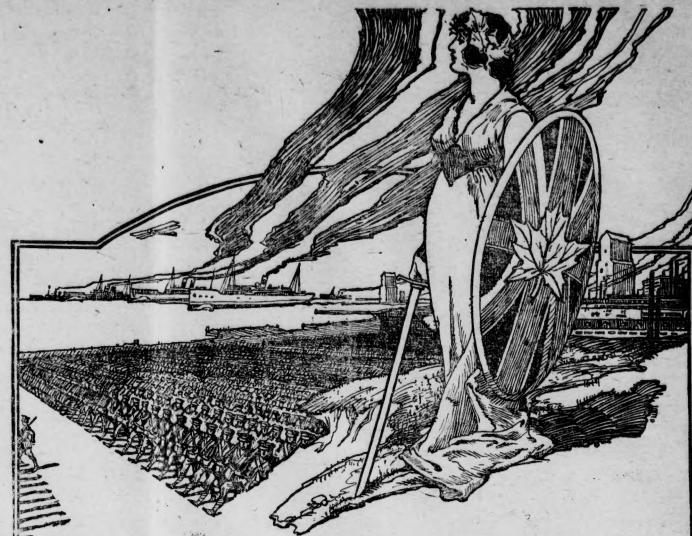

The French Society in Paris have taken over this task, which is far too heavy for the government at present. The National Council of French women, 650,000 people in the head office in Paris, co-operating with the Red Cross in the provinces and the feminist societies in every district in France. So far they have made over 400,000 investments, and have taken in 100,000 francs. This society succeeded at last, by appealing to the Pope, and to the King of Spain to interfere, in getting 300 young girls who had been deported to Germany sent back to their homes. This is a "small drop in the bucket," but it is never encouraging to the workers.

Closely related to this question of the children is that of their unfortunate relatives who have become refugees. "Leinenster" has given hospitality in Paris to over 1,000 free of charge. They are housed in blocks of modern flats with every convenience, even having done for their comfort and happiness employment funds for those able to work. That children are, also, cared for, if necessary.

Why Canada must borrow money to carry on

Because Canada has put her hand to the plow and will not turn back:—

—our country is in the war on the side of liberty and justice and will stay in till complete victory is won and the unspeakable Hun is smashed and beaten to the ground;

—a nation at war must make tremendous expenditures in cash to keep up her arms and supply them with munitions, food and clothing;

—Canada must finance many millions of dollars of export trade in food, munitions and supplies which Britain and our allies must have on credit;

—for these purposes Canada must borrow hundreds of millions of dollars—

And, this money must be borrowed from the people of Canada:—

Therefore, Canada will presently come to her people for a new Victory Loan to carry on.

Canadians will loan the money by again buying Victory Bonds.

The national safety, the national honor and the national well-being require that each and every Canadian shall do his duty by lending to the nation every cent he can spare for this purpose.

we call humanity in the rest of the world to help us. The work we are doing has not altered the condition of the most of them. There are children who have never known anything but the state of slavery.

Over 200,000 tons of food and clothing have been sent to the Hun by ardent people.

These have been sent, largely, at last, by appealing to the Pope, and to the King of Spain to interfere, in getting 300 young girls who had been deported to Germany sent back to their homes. This is a "small drop in the bucket," but it is never encouraging to the workers.

FRENCH WAR DOGS

No, everyone realizes the importance of these dogs, which can travel where men cannot go, and exceed any other messenger except the pigeon in speed. They travel through the barage, making 23 or 24 miles an hour, and can travel 100 miles in a day, and return in that line for two years after the war had begun. They have now 18,000 dogs trained or in training. These are cared for by the French Government, who have attached a dog hospital to all the Blue Cross hospitals in France where war horses are treated. All dogs are treated by the French army are received at the dog hospital, and the dogs are given the same medical treatment as the horses. They are then assigned for duty of training.

Terriers are used to free the trenches of rats, and the larger dogs are used to pull the big guns, and gun carriages, as first aids to ambulances to carry wounded men in shell holes and out-of-the-way places. It is said that Sanicroe dogs have actually saved many lives by carrying the wounded to safety; they carry shells, and even draw sledges and light transport. Perhaps most important of all are the messenger dogs, which can travel where men cannot go, and exceed any other messenger except the pigeon in speed. So far over 1,000 French dogs have been treated at the hospitals. All operations on dogs and horses are performed under anesthetics by qualified veterinarians. The town of Moissac, lately presented to Lady Smith-Dorrien, president of the Blue Cross fund, a cheque for 1,050 pounds, which is the first instalment of its subscription towards this fine work. Moissac is a town of only 5,000 inhabitants.

Lovemore had been playing high stakes and had lost. After spending all he had on Miss Brass.

"Turned you down, did you?" asked Lovemore. "Well, old chap, it's better to have lost and lost than never to have had at all."

"Yes, better indeed," replied the rickshaw boy, and, after consulting office authorities, the florist, the messenger boy, the confectioner, a dozen waiters, as many taxi drivers, the jeweler, and half the theater in town."

Milner's Worm Powders work so effectively that no traces of worm's cast are left. The pests are easily killed in the stomach, and are driven into the stools without being perceptible. They make an easy and clean sweep of the bowels, and put the worm shape of a worm can find lodgement there when these parasites are so obstinate. Regulations are Being Enforced

Within the last few weeks, many fines have been imposed and inflicted as penalties for violation of the Canada food board's regulations in various parts of the country. The convictions have been obtained by the Canada food board's own inspectors and by the provincial and municipal police authorities. It is the duty of local officials to see that these important regulations are enforced, as they have the full authority of law.

Shortage of German Crops

Grain and Cattle Being Taken from Russia

All the troubles of the kaiser and his aids are not confined to the Solingen and the Ruhr, as indicated by the reports of food crops in Germany which are coming this way, in the middle German, and especially in Mecklenburg, where the dry weather has curtailed or destroyed the vegetable crops, an important part of the diet. The losses of the empire have already been found necessary.

To compound the situation in the drought-affected areas, plagues of insects have attacked the potato crop and the beet and board are at the disposal of the kaiser, advertising as they are, to recruit for the Army.

The situation in Germany is excellent fruit crop is reported, while in other parts, it is moderate and somewhat poor. The wheat crop is a loss to the German population during the summer months.

In the case of the shortage Germany is sending soldiers equipped with carts to collect grain in the Russian grain country, harvesting the crops and taking what she demands little. In Poland and Lithuania horses and cattle are being sent to the front, and the payments made and no receipts given for the supplies the Germans are taking.

The beet sugar crop in Germany is about 1,000,000 tons short, although the grain crop is reported to have been allowed to the farmers as a means of stimulating its production. One of the most important food products was found in the shortage of coal at the steel factories. Many of them were unable to buy coal, and were supplied from the fields and other similar materials for fuel.

A large amount of allotment sugar in Germany which has reached the 100,000 tons mark, has been allowed to the farmers for release, is allowed by the government, is a great mistake for such sufferers and those with bad skin conditions, and is necessary.

The same is true of the grain which is allowed to the people in the United States under the new sugar control, and the same will be effected by the food administration.

The use of sugar in jams, preserves, and jellies has been forbidden, and all sugar is being used only to meet the table needs of the German people.

Virtually all the vegetables that are being grown in Germany are being sent to the munitions plants, and, regardless of their ages, have been sent to the munitions plants for military service.

An official of the military system occupies a position corresponding to local food dictator, is determining the proportion of each garden and the amount of the produce which will keep their own garden and the part which will be sent into the market for consumption and for export to the front.

Among the several hardships with which the German population is being subjected is the shortage of soap. The soap is made from animal fats, and other ingredients used in soap making has virtually ended the supply for civilian use.

Californian has but two species of trees that bear fruit, and the only weeping willow, "One Quercus Robata, the valley oak, having its most southern range near Burlingame, California, and the weeping willow spruce, which is found in a few isolated mountainous sections in the northern part of the state.

Almond Sweetmeats. Most will lose their properties with age. Not so with Farmland's Vegetable Pills. The pill mass is so compounded that it will not lose its properties and the pills can be carried anywhere without fear of losing their properties.

Epitome of Memory

One evening a business man, who had been a guest of his, was about to leave. "I am going to my vacation at the beach," he said, "and will be gone for a week." "I suppose I can," indifferently answered Jessie, rising from her easy chair and walking to the window.

"What do you want?" Jessie asked, smiling. "I will get you to forget that you are not a sewing machine," Jessie said, and the door closed.

"There is a little tipped place in the door tonight," returned Jessie, "Can't you see it up for me?"

"I am not a sewing machine," Jessie replied, "but I am a kind and gentle one, 'cause I am a real good listener, and I can't help but listen to you. You can forget that you are not a sewing machine."

THE CASE FOR THRIFT

The case for thrift in Canada as the present time may be summed up in a state of unoccupied prosperity for the past two or three years, owing, it is quite clear, to unusual war conditions. Wages have been high, profits are large, there is a great deal of unoccupied money.

Very many workers are earning more than ever before and thousands are wage-earners for the first time. With all this prosperity and wealth, there does not appear to be any indication of a stampede of their money, many spend their entire surplus, seemingly on the assumption that this prosperity will go on forever. The general idea is that the time is ripe to indulge in a little extravagance of personal thrift, to abstain from the purchase of luxuries and non-essentials, and to endeavor to accumulate as much as possible in the way of savings. This may be true, but it does not alter the fact that there is still much extravagance and that this exists to a dangerous degree. This may result in the general character of the press and the parts of the period of readjustment that will follow peace.

The practice of thrift by the Canadian people now will bring a large accession of wealth, saving to us individually and collectively against any trying change that might occur in the economic situation. It would make possible the continuation of Canada's splendid part in the world's war effort, and an increase in war financing on its present sound basis. The elimination of luxuries and non-essentials would be a matter of fact, and the time and cost for our purposes, instead of saving them, great and scarce necessities for things that we could do without.

The example of other countries should inspire Canadians to make the same effort. The war has been terrible, to face her four years of terrible trial by reason of her background of personal thrift. Great Britain is practicing it to a degree, and before the United States is fast piled up vast sums of money for the use of her own and the other armies of Canada. Canada has done much to finance her own part in the war, but we can say that the limit of saving has been reached or even approached.

FINANCING THE WAR FROM OUR OWN POCKETS

During the first year of the war Canada was cutting to the bone, needed money elsewhere, but as the conflict lengthened and other nations felt the financial pinch the distance of need was closed and the Canadian element of the flotation of loans at home. The business of raising war loans, since then has been of increasing importance. The first domestic war loan, immediately succeeded, resulted in bank subscriptions of $25,000,000 and public subscriptions of $78,200,500 in a total of $113,250,500. This in face of an object of but $60,000,000 was more gratifying.

By the following summer another domestic loan was needed, and a call for $100,000,000 was issued. $40,000,000 was taken up at home, and from the banks and the balance, from the public. It will thus be seen that the part played by the public greatly increased in each new issue.

The second war loan was in November, 1917, when the fourth loan was triumphantly floated. The request again was for $150,000,000 and all funds up to $41,000,000 were taken.

The interest of the public was demonstrated in remarkable degree, for while there were 24,682 subscribers to the first loan, 34,526 to the second and 49,809 to the third. In the fourth loan the public interest was even greater, with $30,005,000 subscribers registered, or, on an average, 9.6% of the population of the Dominion.

Ontario headed the list of the provinces, with 2,000,000 for large population. Here 36,900 subscribers were responsible for $204,185,000, compared with $24,257,250 in Quebec, $24,534 subscribers in Manitoba, $11,758 in Saskatchewan, $13,475 subscribers in Saskatchewan, $18,314,709 from 50,563 subscribers in British Columbia, $18,588,150 from 37,521 subscribers in Nova Scotia, $16,213,150 from 56,117 subscribers in Alberta, $16,462,520 from 56,162 subscribers in New Brunswick and $23,13,150 from 5,306 subscribers in Prince Edward Island, Manitoba slightly led with a subscriber from one in every 7 people in the province, S. E. 11-12-28, W. 4.

BUY CONTINUED PROSPERITY

Before our last Victory Loan financial experts were dubious as to the outlook for Canada. She could do nothing but wait and pray that she have a large available capital to finance credits for British and foreign war orders. Canada was thrown on her own resources and appealed to the citizens to buy bonds.

The remarkable oversubscription of the 1917 Victory Loan completely changed the uncertain outlook which prevailed. It gave a new impetus to agriculture, commerce and production. It invigorated our efforts in the war. It allowed our provincial governments, municipal, and other borrowers to finance their requirements at home. In short, it gave an added lease of life to the activities of the nation.

The Victory Loan of 1918 will accomplish the same results. Upon the war will depend the large and imminent future of Canada. Everyone's prosperity is involved.

WARTIME PROSPERITY

Some day war industries will find their special occupation gone. With the end of war, or even sooner, if Great Britain and the United States enter the war, the economy of Canada will come to an end. The munitions which is flowing over the country. Hundreds of thousands of men and women directly engaged in war work will have to turn to other occupations. Employment will be found also for the army of released soldiers. No doubt many undertakings which have been suspended during the war will be reorganized, and many have been handicapped by the war will again flourish in full vigor. But while war work will end so suddenly, the change to a new occupation will be completed in a week or two months. There will be a period of transition which will bear heavily upon many who have made no provision against unemployment. If they are wage-earners, or against the trade depression which may ensue on the termination of the war, they have saved nothing against the trying time that will follow.

THE FOLLY OF IT

Our whole industrial life at the present time is absolutely abnormal. It is estimated that there are considerably over 200,000 people employed in the munitions industry. It is quite a remarkable thing for these large numbers of people to be engaged in munitions making, and to be earning a total weekly payroll of an amount that would, in peacetime, have been deemed wholly insufficient.

Conditions like these cannot last. With the termination of the war there is bound to come a certain period of读 during which unemployment will be hardly assimilated, if not less formidable dimensions. Unless all history's warnings are wrong we may be confronted by a time of acute depression, as well as by a period of comparative plenty. The cost of living will be the individual cost to the householder to save, save, in order to guard against all possibilities.

The "spenders" of today, money to burn, will be the "savers" of tomorrow. The way to wealth is the right way, to enable himself to weather the storm in the straight and strenuous days that may be ahead, more soundly than he thinks. The time is at hand when the "spenders" of today, the back of it, on the part of any one of us, is not merely folly but a crime—Montreal Herald.

Music Lovers Amazed by Edison's Daring Test

All told, 2,000,000 music lovers in Canada and the United States, on more than 1500 different occasions, have gone to one of their local theatres filled with curiosity regarding a startlingly novel musical recital to which they had been invited.

In each case they have come away amazed at the almost unbelievable demonstration which had taken place before their very eyes, and ears—the most daring test of a phonograph or talking machine ever made. They saw a noted Edison artist stand beside

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

They heard the instrument sing in the artist's voice—in other words, recreate her voice. Presently the artist herself began to sing note for note with the instrument. Musically trained ears strove in vain to discern the faintest shade of difference between the artist's voice and the Edison's. And when, after a few words, the artist ceased singing, laying the instrument to continue the air alone. Only by watching the artist's lips did the audience know that she had ceased singing and that they heard the instrument alone. This is the famous Edison Tone Test.

Only Edison makes this test. Only Edison can make this test. Because only the New Edison actually recreates the human voice and the most humanly displayed instruments with every tone quality and every shade of expression. Ordinary phonographs, and talking machines, merely reproduce.

If you have not been fortunate enough, to witness an Edison Test, you may at least hear Edison's nice phonograph at our store. Make the time suit your convenience.

DEATH RATE FROM SPANISH INFLUENZA HIGH

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—The local board of health at a late hour tonight ordered all stores with the exception of fruit, confectionery, stationery, and drug stores to close at 6 o'clock, even groceries until further notice, and passed a resolution requesting wholesale houses and offices to close at the same hour. The order was sent to Sir George Foster, prime minister, requesting that government offices close at 6 o'clock. These steps were taken as a further effort to check the spread of influenza.

Representatives of the pharmaceuticals who met the board of health unanimously agreed to cooperate with the authorities.

While figures regarding the death rate in Ottawa were not available, it is known that they were very high.

Undertakers, when asked for an estimate, said they were too much burdened with business to stop and figure out how many funerals they had on hand.

An appeal for help came from Major Fisher at midnight.

I want again to make it perfectly clear that we are not driving in our midst because they are not provided with proper care. They are not dying because we do not know about them. We know where they are, but we have no news of them.

"Waiting socks for soldiers is very useful work but we are now asking the women of Ottawa to get in the trenches themselves."

Winnipeg, Oct. 14.—Twenty-four new cases of the Spanish influenza were reported to the Winnipeg health authorities today, bringing the total number of citizens now suffering from the malady up to 166. Up to this afternoon, 100 cases had been reported among the military here. Only one death was reported today, the victim being W. H. Escott, president and manager of the Wm. H. Escott, Ltd., manager, agents and grocery stores, who died at 3:30 this morning, aged 48. He leaves a widow, one son and one daughter.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 13.—One hundred and twenty cases of Spanish influenza were reported to the medical health authorities here tonight. There were seven deaths today. Special meetings of the city council were held yesterday and all efforts are being taken to combat the disease.

Hospitals, which are now filled with these and other cases can longer be counted upon to house victims of the disease, and arrangements have been made at University of British Columbia buildings. The council today approved of the decision of the medical health authorities not to close public buildings and schools.

Brantford, Ont., Oct. 14.—Six deaths were reported today and over 40 new influenza cases admitted to the municipal hospitals being used as an emergency hospital.

Quebec, Oct. 15.—Four adults died here in the last forty-eight hours in the same family of Spanish influenza.

A man, his wife and two children found dead Sunday in a hunting camp near L'Islet with, two children were dying from Spanish grippe. The camp belonged to the Club St. Anne and the man was a hunter, his husband and child. There were seven children in the camp when hunters accidentally discovered the actual situation.

Winnipeg, Oct. 15.—Spanish influenza has attacked 262 people.

While one-half of the patients being soldiers in a unit visiting Winnipeg, Four civilians and four soldiers have died of the malady.

Today's report shows new cases and one death in Winnipeg.

Some theatres and all public meeting places remain closed by law in Winnipeg and surrounding districts.

It is believed that the disease will be checked within a few days.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—All Toronto public schools and collegiates have been ordered closed in order to release doctors, nurses and teachers who are qualified to treat influenza cases. All dance halls have been closed, but this has not been extended to the theatres and movies. Eight deaths from Spanish influenza occurred in the city hospitals during the last twenty-four hours. Two medical health department nurses and two medical officers are among those ill with the malady.

FRENCH WOMEN AND PEACE

The answer sent to the Women's Congress of the Hague in 1915 by the Women's National Council of France embracing 150 feminist associations and by the 80 federated suffrage societies was reading at the present time—signe au possible says this document. "For now is a time as the present to quest women of the enemy countries and again take up with them the work so tragically interrupted! Have they denounced the political crimes and sins against humanity perpetrated by their Government? Have they protested against the violation of Belgium, against the criminal acts of their army and their navy? If their voices have been raised it has been too feeble for their pronunciation to reach us. We can only renew our cooperation with them when they accept, as we do, respect for right as the basis of all social life and action."

"We France nursed the dream of peace and understanding, if not universal at least European; we refused to believe in those who predicted that the growing movement on the other side of the frontier. How we have been awakened to the reality you know, and history will keep the record for ever. Since events have proved the danger and futility of a one-sided pacifism, we shall only resume our old rôle of a peaceful nation, as given in our education and training the world beginning October 31."

IT PAYS TO FINISH POULTRY

(Experimental Farms Note.)

Even with the present high price of feed no one can afford to sell birds especially cockerels, in a thin condition. The best way to do this is to determine the cost of feed per pound for poultry and then pay for the extra feed, and if there ever was a time when birds should be finished, it is now.

As a war measure the marketing of thin chickens should be prohibited. The most expensive part of the bird is production, and the cost of the last stages of feeding the flocks have been favorable or otherwise.

I contract that if the returns from a series of farms in any locality were compared, the yields per acre of these farms would be found to vary much more than the average yield per acre of the various properties. The reason for this is that the average production conditions as much as the methods employed in growing the crop and marketing the various products.

Poultry meat of all kinds has been a good price. Hens have been selling as high as roasters and broilers have paid well. Leghorn cockerels at the Experimental Farm have been sold at about 20 cents per pound, and the results of the experiments conducted at the Experimental farm this summer go to prove.

Poultry meat of all kinds has been a good price. Hens have been selling as high as roasters and broilers have paid well. Leghorn cockerels at the Experimental Farm have been sold at about 20 cents per pound, and the results of the experiments conducted at the Experimental farm this summer go to prove.

It is absolutely essential if one is desirous of improving their crop yields that they know the exact yield in bushels per acre that their fields require. This is the only way to know how to grow the crop and to know when to stop cutting.

This method is without practical value. For instance, oats sown at the rate of two bushels per acre will yield 10 bushels or more, and when oats are sown at the rate of three or three and a half bushels per acre.

If a field is yielded only fifteen bushels of wheat or twenty bushels of oats, now is the time that the reason for such a low yield should be ascertained. The reason is that the field is not sown at the correct rate.

The cost of feed is 150 pounds at 4 cents per pound, $7.20 and 24 gallons of milk at 5 cents per gallon, $1.20, and 8 bushels of oats at 25 cents per bushel, $2.00, and 10 pounds of meal and 5 pounds of hams, $1.00.

The mash was composed of 2 parts corn meal, 1 part middlings, and 1 part buckwheat screenings.

The cost of feed is 150 pounds at 4 cents per pound, $7.20 and 24 gallons of milk at 5 cents per gallon, $1.20, and 8 bushels of oats at 25 cents per bushel, $2.00, and 10 pounds of meal and 5 pounds of hams, $1.00.

The weight of finished chicks was 360 pounds, and the gain 40 pounds in the 10 days of feeding. The value per pound was increased because of the quality of the flesh to 50 cents per pound making the total value of the birds $17.00.

This means a return of $54.00 for the care of 452 birds for less than two weeks. It also showed that for every pound of grain the birds ate 10 pounds of meal and 4 pounds of corn meal or an average cost of 14 cents per pound of grain.

WISDOM OF THE HEN

The Smiths had a hen which insisted upon neglecting her comfortable nest to lay a daily egg in the coal cellar.

"I can't think," said Mrs. Smith, as she and her son John together hunted for that particular egg, "why this one hen persists in using the coal cellar."

"Well, that's easy, mother," explained John. "I suppose she's seen the sign, 'Now is the time to lay in your coal'—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph."

State tons of dressed reindeer meat in essence is briefly told. Each municipal area having appointed its committee, will take evidence exactly as in a public inquiry. From this it will learn the average price at which merchants buy. Taking all local factors into consideration, the committee will decide on a fair price which the consumers should pay. This will result in a maximum profit.

If the findings do not conform to the notion of the majority of consumers in the district, they have the means either of verifying the committee's decision, or of having it immediately revised in the light of local knowledge.

It is not the essence or local self-sufficiency, carried out by a step further than has ever yet been done in Canada.

Consumers will be made acquainted with fair prices, by means of statements, usually in table form, published in the local newspapers. Thus prices given below were those in force when the review was written, the week beginning October 31.

Retailers pay for rye flour from $0.75 to $12.50 per barrel, consumer should pay from 61 to 8 cents per pound.

On Monday, October 14, at Koontzville church, Lethbridge, Mrs. Myrtle E. Howard and Mr. George B. Todd were united in marriage by Rev. M. Burns.

The bride was attended by Miss Lena M. Todd, sister of the groom, and Misses Grace and Anna Carlson, St. Paul. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Retwold, of Neepawa, Man., and the groom a son of Major and Mrs. Thos. Todd, of Kingston, at present visiting with their family here.

The groom's gift to the bride was a blue eye-ring and a small diamond ring. The bride's gift to the groom was a gold cuff link.

The couple are at home to their friends at Clarendon.

The Review-Advertiser joins in wishing the couple a long and happy life.

COMMUNICATION

Dear Editor:—
Who done it to one of the least, least done it unto me.

Why not every Sunday services

I have for the little space in your valuable paper to express from a broken heart, my, and others appreciation to the choir of the Methodist Church, for last Sunday's remarkable service, the most touching singing. I have not heard such good, full of expression singing for a long while, and, as a traveller the world round, I should be able to judge. It was a most touching service, the sincere intent to do their best.

What a cheer it must have been for those who are sad in anxiety about those believed far away in danger and trouble. The choir sang every minute in the day, and what dew drops for those who lost their beloved ones already. OH! please do cheer those up every day by coming in full force, singing to those in trouble.

You are very thankful and obliged.

"THE EAGLE"

John Gregory has sworn to rob the mining company of the same sum that took from his mother whose death was caused by this company. He is accused of a fatal disease and is called by the girls "The Eagle." He plans to make up the exact amount by taking a shipment while he learns will arrive at the station the next night. He is waiting for the time when he sees Bob, the brother of Lucy, his sweetheart, attack the guard and as he watches, the boy is wounded. Gregory pushes his aid, and though he is beaten, he manages to get Bob and himself away with a number of Eagle feathers. But Bob is captured and is accused not only of the murder of the guard, but of the killing of his brother, Lucy's sweetheart. The court tries to make out a case as though nothing could prevent Bob's conviction. Lucy, in despair, rushes to Gregory's cabin in the woods, where he is staying in the costume of The Eagle. Instantly she realizes that Gregory is the real thief. Forcing him on her horse, she rides him home, and the court turns him loose. The court then attempts to place Gregory on the stand while, in dramatic fashion, he tells the court why it was that he stole from the company. His story is that he is deeply impressed. Nevertheless he is convicted and sentenced to hang. At the last moment Bob kills himself, leaving a note that frees Gregory. When their hearts are broken, Lucy and Gregory and Lucy are married.

The above feature will be shown at the Rex Theatre Fri. and Sat., Oct. 13 and 14.

DR. MAHOD SAY'S NO NEED TO CLOSE THEATRES

Calgary, Alberta, October 16.—There is no need of closing the theatres in Calgary because of the influenza epidemic which is raging in eastern Canada and is now in full force. The theatres are taking in more than 90,000 gallons of dash fluid are used every day by the theatres as a precautionary measure. Calgary theatres are probably the best equipped in the city, and result for health than the average business house."

This statement was made by Dr. G. S. Mahod, M. D., this morning when discussing the subject of the public safety.

"If it is necessary to close the theatres to prevent the spread of the epidemic this will be done, but as things now stand Calgary theatres are probably the safest place in the city."

Manager, Oral Cleasby of the Atheneum, when seen this morning said that every night for the past week the theatres in the city had been disinfected with a strong carbolic solution.

"Some of our patrons complain of the carbolic odor, but we have been able to take care of that. There is not a home in the city of Calgary where one may feel asinine as in Calgary theatres. I know that to be the case in the Atheneum at least, and the other theatres, I understand, are taking the same precautions."

The "Rey" theatre, Clareholm, is taking the same precautions as the Calgary theatres.

WILSON DECLINES TO BE DRAWN INTO GERMAN TRAP

ernment approached the government of the United States with proposals of peace its submarine are engaged in sinking ships, not only our ships alone, but the very boats in which their passengers and crews seek to make their way to safety, and in this proposed procedure, Germany is to be allowed to proceed.

"Cities and villages, if not destroyed, are being stripped of all they contain, not only but often of their inhabitants, who are then sent to Germany to be used as slave labor.

"When the trial takes place it seems as though nothing could prevent Bob's conviction. Lucy, in despair, rushes to Gregory's cabin in the woods, where he is staying in the costume of The Eagle.

Instantly she realizes that Gregory is the real thief. Forcing him on her horse, she rides him home, and the court turns him loose. The court then attempts to place Gregory on the stand while, in dramatic fashion, he tells the court why it was that he stole from the company. His story is that he is deeply impressed. Nevertheless he is convicted and sentenced to hang. At the last moment Bob kills himself, leaving a note that frees Gregory. When their hearts are broken, Lucy and Gregory and Lucy are married.
